FOUR FAST TEAMS PLAY DOUBLE-HEADER AT PARK

By BRYAN MORSE

Four of the strongest teams in the District Baseball Association title race make their appearance at American League park today in a double- Notre Dame football team hopes to header, Naval Operations, winner of yesterday's battle with Clarendon, and right on the heels of the Navy Yard nine, meets the Army Medical

In the second game the Navy Yard and Rex A. C. teams hook up in what is expected to be a first-class engagement. Navy Yard is at the week after Notre Dams meeta top of the heap in the second section and is picked by all the fans to Washington and Jefferson on its home lead in the race. The close battle fought with Army Medical the other day has made Rex a favorite in today's engagement.

Maryland State Is Planning Contest With Cornell

Maryland State is planning to bring Cornell University to Baltimore for a Thanksgiving Day contest to replace the annual Johns Hopkins-Maryland State game. If the Ithacans are unable to make the trip, State hopes to take on some other equally formidable opponent.

The War Department hastens to deny the statement spread broadcast yesterday that football was to be banned this fall. The authorities merely ask that military training at the various colleges be not hindered by football or any other branch of athletics. Many colleges, however, are in doubt as to the amount of athletics that will be possible without infringing on the military studies.

With the flags of all nations put up by the Navy, banners of all colors to indicate the sections in the stadium where the different department clerks will sit, with two bands, one from Camp Meigs and one from Washington Barracks, furnished by the War Department, with a singing contest and a final event between the Army and Navy, Thrift Stamps for Brennan, the former American Asso-diation umpire, like many others in his line of profession, has changed his occupation to that of a shipbuilder.

Alexander is thirty-nine years of age and still up and doing as one of the best court men in the country. Few realize that Alexan-der is also a golfer of distinction. His recent win over Harold Throck-His recent win over Harold Throck-morton at Forest Hills in the national title event when Throckmorton had a two set lead, and his game battle against R. Lindley Murray which went five sets, is still fresh in the minds of followers of the tournament. Alexander's activities are not con-fined to tennis by any means. He is a first-class trap shooter, has played polo, is an adept at handling a canon and a shell, and played football and baseball in his day.

Several years ago Alexander drop-ped out of tennis completely. In the course of conversation with several golf devotees Alexander made the crack that almost anyone who had been an athlete could become a pass-ably good golfer. With little or no knowledge of the game of golf Alexander made his as-sertion which was taken up immedi-ately by the others. Alexander was forced to make good his bosst. It was a case of proving two things.

Alexander became a golfer. He joined the Rumsen Country Club and proceeded to play golf with the same avidity that characterizes his tennis DUNIOF TO UNIENNIO play. By the end of the year Freddy Alexander had not only broken the course record but had wen the club MENINBALTIMORE dearse record but had went the class field. He repeated his victories two years in succession. Then he quit golf and returned to his old love, tennis.

"You can have your old golf game." said Alexander to his associates. "I just wanted to show you that any fairly good athlete could play golf and play it well." Alexander proved himself not only a good golfer but a good athlete.

After a three-year lapse Alexander resumed playing tennis. He will probably be ranked among the first ten players this season, which, after a lapse of almost ten years as a big tournament player, is a remarkable
